- Minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including through the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology, e.g., permitting electronic submissions of responses.

III. Current Actions

The BLS plans to make several changes to the processes and procedures used to collect data in the OES program.

We plan to evaluate whether the number of different survey forms used in the OES survey (currently 82 different forms) can be reduced when the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) is introduced in the 2002 OES program (October 12, November 12, and December 12, 2002 reference dates). The evaluation will take place after the results of the 2002 survey staffing patterns have been examined.

The current survey reference period is a single quarter. In order to more properly reflect the annual average employment and wages, consideration is being given to using two or more quarters as reference periods. (The OES sample size would not be increased with a change to multiple reference periods.)

Together with our State partners, the BLS is exploring tailoring the mail questionnaire to specific respondents in order to reduce respondent burden. This customization could include using a reduced occupation list on the form to make the list specific for the intended establishment.

Currently, the front of the survey form solicits information on industry, operating status, total number of workers, and contact person for the establishment. In the past, the OES program asked for the total number of employees working in Research and Development. In this proposed revision, the BLS is requesting the flexibility to replace such questions with question(s) that may assist in the evaluation of changes in workforce dynamics, such as the introduction of new technologies (e.g., e-commerce).

The BLS and the States plan to test, and implement if the test is successful, collection of OES data by electronic means, including using the Internet.

Type of Review: Revision of a currently approved collection.
