

requirement in its information collection request, but had not included the recordkeeping requirement of the medical log. In addition, CDC is changing the requirement from reporting gastrointestinal illness to reporting all diseases of public health significance. This submission includes the medical log recordkeeping requirement, for an additional 2,375 burden hours.

Respondents include airline pilots, ships' captains, importers, medical professionals, and travelers. The nature of the quarantine response dictates which forms are completed by whom.

There are no costs to respondents except their time to complete the forms.
